The Leh Palace is prevalent as 'Lhachen Palkhar' and it is the impeccable example of medieval Tibetan architecture. One can enjoy the outstanding panoramic views of Ladakh Mountains and Stok Kangri along with its serene surroundings. At present, the place is in a dilapidated condition but you can still enjoy the artifacts stored in the museum of this majestic building. The whole castle is built of stones, sand, wood, and mud. The grand entrance of this palace is garland by wood carved figurines. This is one of the real vacation spots in Leh-Ladakh where people come to see old paintings, Tibetan architecture and the museum where a rich collection of crowns, jewelry, and ceremonial dresses have been stored. Enjoy the ravishing view of the palace at night when full moon spread its white rays on it.

Mubarak Mandi Palace:

It is one of the most attractive tourist destinations which were once a royal residence of Dogra King. It is one of the noteworthy heritage places in Jammu that indicates the 160 years old history. The architecture of this Palace is a perfect amalgamation of Rajasthani architecture, Mughal styles and European Baroque. Its complex consists of multiple buildings and palaces like Royal Courts, Gol Ghar Complex, Rani Charak Palace, Hawa Mahal, Pink Palace, Sheesh Mahal, etc. Don't forget to visit Dogra Art Museum which is another major highlight located within the Pink Hall of this structure where you can see a rich collection of old paintings, a miniature of Jammu and Kangra, arrow of Mughals, etc.
